South Hall Complex, University of Edinburgh

OEUK Skills Summit

The energy industry is at the forefront of combating climate change, and it's imperative that we equip it with the skilled professionals it needs to balance the demands of delivering a greener future while meeting ever-increasing energy consumption.

Attracting talented people to this critical sector is paramount and the demand for skilled professionals has never been higher. Industry surveys have revealed significant shortages as competition for skills grows with increasing activity across energy sectors and in national infrastructure projects.

OEUK's Skills summit in Edinburgh will convene stakeholders from across energy sectors, trade bodies, skills organisations and the education sector together with the UK government and devolved parliaments to address the challenge collaboratively. The summit will provide an arena to identify collective actions to address the shared challenge of skills shortages both now and as the offshore energy industry transitions to a low carbon energy system.

Sponsorship Packages Available

Sponsorship of the OEUK Skills Summit offers your company a presence and profile at this event. Not only will this give you the opportunity to raise your company's profile and network with your peers, it will also enable you to align your business with this important industry issue and allows you to be part of the conversation.
