

Securing the future energy supply of the UK

8.00 – 8.50 am Registration, coffee and networking

8.50 – 9.00 am Welcome & Introduction
Mark Wilson, HSE & Operations Director, Offshore Energies UK

9.00 – 9.15 am OEUK Keynote Address
Dave Whitehouse, Chief Executive, Offshore Energies UK

9.15 – 9.30 am Martin Smith, Managing Director, CyberPrism

9.30 – 9.45 am Kate Stephen, Chief Superintendent, North East Division Commander, Police Scotland

SESSION 1 – The Global Context

This session will take a global perspective, reviewing each continent in turn to highlight current and emerging threats and how these could impact global energy security.

9.45 – 9.50 am Scene Setter: Shirley Daniel, Crisis, Continuity and Security Lead, Equinor

9.50 – 10.05 am Volatility to Vulnerability – The Global Threat Context
Cliff Thoburn, Head of Intelligence, RMI

10.05 – 10.20 am Stephen Green, Cyber Threat Intelligence Lead, Thomas Murray

10.20 – 10.35 am David Brettell, Senior Intelligence Manager, Synmax

10.35 – 11.00 am Refreshments break and exhibition visit

SESSION 2 – The European Context

This session will focus on the opportunity to understand the relevant energy threats on our doorstep that will include physical and cyber security, as well as the impact of the war in Ukraine on energy security.

11.00 – 11.05 am Scene Setter: Sinead Watson, ER, Continuity & Security Manager, TAQA

11.05 – 11.20 am European Energy Security: Evolving Threat Perceptions
Professor Andrew W.Neal, Professor of International Security, University of Edinburgh

11.20 – 11.35 am The Threat Picture - From a Norwegian Perspective
Aud Nistov, Technical Director, Offshore Norge

11.35 – 11.50 am David Fisher-Holt, Principal OT Engineer, CyberPrism

11.50 – 12.20 pm Panel Session

- David Fisher-Holt, Principal OT Engineer, CyberPrism
- Aud Nistov, Technical Director, Offshore Norge
- Cliff Thoburn, Head of Intelligence, RMI
- David Brettel, Senior Intelligence Manager, SynMax
- Stephen Green, Cyber Threat Intelligence Lead, Thomas Murray
- Professor Andrew W.Neal, Professor of International Security, University of Edinburgh

12.20 – 1.30 pm Lunch, networking and exhibition visit

1.30 – 2.00 pm Fireside Chat

Actions being taken and what could be done – an interview

Professor Tracey German, Kings College London (Defence Studies Department)

SESSION 3 – A review of the UK's threat landscape

Zooming into the UK operational environment after hearing about the global and European security threats the agenda will switch to the UK. Throughout this session you will hear about the impact on the UK's energy security picture and how this is predicted to evolve.

2.00 – 2.05 pm Scene Setter: Shirley Daniel, Crisis, Continuity and Security Lead, Equinor

2.05 – 2.20 pm Professor Andrew Dorman, Kings College London (Defence Studies Department)

2.20 – 2.35 pm Allan Burnett, Special Advisor, SecuriGroup

2.35 – 2.50 pm Kate Stephen, Chief Superintendent, North East Division Commander, Police Scotland

2.50 – 3.20 pm Refreshments break and exhibition visit

SESSION 4 – The UK building resilience via collaboration and action

UK's area of focus will look at those actions being taken and considered to build further resilience into the UK's energy security arrangements. You will hear from experts in their field on how their organisations are building resilience and how you could transpose this to your own area of work.

3.20 – 3.25 pm Scene Setter: Sinead Watson, ER, Continuity & Security Manager, TAQA

3.25 – 3.40 pm Can AI Reduce Your Insurance Premiums? And Your Offshore Risk?

Craig Hunter, Head of Resilience, National Grid

3.40 – 3.55 pm Botan Osman, CEO & Co-Founder, Restrata

3.55 – 4.10 pm Protective Security - Enhancing Organisational Resilience
Andrew Buxton, Chief Operating Officer, Dardan Security

Panel Session

The panel session will focus on bringing together some of the key security themes from the day and allowing those attending to raise questions and interact with a panel of experts. The outcome of this session is answering some of the questions that will have emerged throughout the day allowing clarification on areas of focus and future action.

4.10 – 4.55 pm Panel chaired by Mark Wilson, HSE & Operations Director, œUK

- Martin Smith, Managing Director, CyberPrism
- Andrew Buxton, Chief Operating Officer, Dardan Security
- Professor Andrew Dorman, Kings College London
- Kate Stephen, Chief Superintendent, North East Division Commander, Police Scotland
- Botan Osman, Co-founder and CEO, Restrata

4.55 – 5.00 pm Vote of thanks
Mark Wilson, HSE & Operations Director, Offshore Energies UK

5.00 pm Close