Security & Resilience Conference

Wednesday 22 April 2026

Union Kirk, Aberdeen

Sponsorship and Exhibition Packages

After the success of œUK's inaugural Security & Resilience Conference in 2025, we are excited to launch the return of this important event for 2026.

Join us at Union Kirk, Aberdeen, on Wednesday 22 April 2026, for a day dedicated to strengthening the industry's approach to security and resilience.

This year's conference will deliver vital updates on a range of security threats and practical insights you can take back to your organisation to enhance preparedness and response. One of the key outcomes of the 2025 conference was a recognition that sharing of experiences was important and this conference is designed to do the same, ensuring attendees leave with the latest concepts and insights across physical and cyber security.

What to expect:

- Expert speakers: hear from leading security and resilience specialists across the military, regulatory, industry, and academic sectors.
- Latest thinking: explore new concepts and strategies in cyber security.
- Networking opportunities: build connections with peers from across the sector.
- Focused agenda: structured around the OODA loop (Observe, Orientate, Decide, Act), to ensure that we can be as resilience as possible in the 'VUCA' (volatile, uncertain, complex, ambiguous) environment in terms of preparedness, response and recovery.

This conference is aimed at:

- Security, risk, and resilience professionals in the energy sector
- Cybersecurity specialists
- Government and regulatory representatives
- Defence and intelligence experts
- Emergency response teams
- Business continuity leaders

The event is also ideal for those with an interest in thought leadership on security, providing an opportunity to broaden perspectives and stay informed on the latest developments
